Knives Out
School's in so turn up, tune in and take down a sum up of "Knives Out."

Find out why one of the most enjoyable, star-filled films of 2020 is also a parable about the power of goodness and a sly critique of US immigration practice.

...come find out more in B19 this Friday, 1.30.

With all the changes to school life it was a relief that the St. Mary's Senior Film Club was able to resume again this year, writes Dona Jason Ty.

The film club is run by Mr. Mealy every year for the senior students of our school. The film club takes place, once a week on Fridays at lunch time for half an hour. The film club aims to promote the love of films and help students talk about films and their views on it. Different types of movies are chosen by the students or by Mr. Mealy himself and they then have discussions about the movie's compelling story, the cinematography, the issues in the film, the style etc. Already this year they have viewed films such as 'Knives Out' and the critically acclaimed 'Calm, With Horses'.

Mr. Meally, founder of the film club, believes that 'our generation, or the students of today, are a very hyper- visual generation and learn more from visual experiences than literature'.
